Seguin Businessman Appointed to SEDC Board

Andrew Koenig Sworn into Position June 3

SEGUIN, Texas – Andrew Koenig has been appointed to a position on the Seguin Economic Development Corporation Board of Directors. Mayor Don Keil recommended Koenig for the position and Seguin City Council approved the appointment on May 6. Koenig took the oath of office on June 3.

“Andrew is a long-time member of the Seguin community who has a successful business record,” Seguin Mayor Don Keil said. “His background as a local business owner and financial advisor will make him an asset to the SEDC Board of Directors.”

Koenig is the local branch owner and financial advisor at Raymond James Financial Services, Inc., a full-service brokerage firm located in a recently renovated office building at 201 South River Street. This month marks 20 years since Koenig started the business. Koenig has been a part of the Seguin community since he moved here in 1982 to attend Texas Lutheran where he earned a degree in accounting. Koenig met his wife, Kim (Ullrich,) while attending the school. Andrew and Kim, a Seguin native, chose to make Seguin their home and raise their family here. Their daughter, Kelly, is studying accounting at Texas A&M and son, Conner, graduates from Seguin High School this year and plans to attend college in the fall.

Koenig has been involved in many local organizations and served in several leadership positions over the years. He is a past director and ambassador of the Seguin-Guadalupe County Chamber of Commerce and has served on the board for the Schertz-Seguin Local Government Corporation, Seguin Noon Rotary Club and Faith Lutheran Church Council.

“I have a vested interest in seeing my business and the economic development of this area continue to move in a positive direction,” Koenig said. “I look forward to lending my knowledge and expertise in any way possible through my new position as a director of the Seguin Economic Development Corporation.”

Koenig will serve an unexpired term through September 30, 2016. He replaces Roger Baenziger who recently resigned from the position.

About the Seguin Economic Development Corporation

Since 1994, the Seguin Economic Development Corporation has worked to promote Seguin as a premiere destination for businesses looking to expand or relocate. Voter created, SEDC receives a portion of Seguin’s sales tax to market Seguin and provide incentives to industries such as manufacturing, biotechnical, distribution, energy and technology. SEDC works with existing companies in Seguin and new businesses that are looking to expand their operations.

About the Seguin Economic Development Corporation Board of Directors

The Seguin Economic Development Corporation is overseen by a Board of Directors that is composed of diverse business executives from throughout the community. The SEDC Board and staff work with industries to find the best incentive package that benefits both the community and the company.

About the City of Seguin

Seguin, Texas is located along Interstate 10, about 35 miles east of San Antonio. Seguin is big enough to boast a top-rated university and a state-of-the-art hospital. More than 25,000 residents enjoy a range of cultural, recreational, and employment opportunities. Seguin’s robust diversified economy features a steelmaker, a manufacturer of automotive parts and plants making roadside mowing equipment and building materials. In 2009, Seguin was proud to be selected by Caterpillar as the site of a major new engine manufacturing facility.
